HELPING THE FARMER

The Publications Branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture is the medium through which the results of scientific research and experiment in agriculture are made available to the farmers and public of Canada. The principal media through which this information is disseminated takes the form of bulletins, pamphlets, circulars and reports. These are available to the public on application to the Branch, free of charge. All that is necessary is for anyone interested to write the Branch for the information desired.

During the last fiscal year a total of 4,442,958 publications of various sorts were distributed. These included the popular "Seasonable Hints" which is prepared by experts in the respective fields of operation. This bulletin contains much of interest to anyone concerned in agriculture. "Hints" includes a list of the more recent publications as a guide in selection. There are at the present time over 300 individual publications available for distribution.

It should also be of interest to note that bulletins and pamphlets on agricultural topics to the number of 767,317 were issued during the fiscal year just closed; an average of 63,000 a month, 16,000 a week, or 2,566 a day.

How to Stop Food Souring In Stomach

Avoid Gas and Indigestion

It is gas, formed by fermenting food that after meals, bloats your stomach, causing sourness, heartburn, dullness, uncomfortable fullness and pains of indigestion. Drugs, stomach tonics and artificial digestants fail to give satisfactory relief because they have little or no effect on the stomach acids that have been proved to be the real cause of gassy stomach and practically all indigestion. Instead an absolutely pure antiacid or neutralizing agent should be used after meals to neutralize this dangerous acid in the stomach, and undoubtedly nothing could be better or safer for the purpose than Bismarck Magnesia. This you can obtain from any good drug store in either solid or tablet form, and in most cases a teaspoonful of the powder, or four tablets taken with a little water after meals will be sufficient to instantly neutralize excessive acidity of the stomach, stop and prevent premature souring and fermentation of the food and permit a normal, painless digestion of whatever you have eaten. Try this simple prescription and be delighted with your entire freedom from indigestion.

These publications all contain useful authoritative information on farm problems and in the range of publications available is something relating to almost any farm problem which might conceivably arise.

CUTTING UP DOESN'T PAY

There is a good demand for Canadian cheese in the British West Indies, but development of cheese exports for that market depends directly on the packing of a cheese suited to the market states J. A. Rudlick, Dairy Commissioner of the Dominion Department of Agriculture.

Dr. Rudlick spent several months in the West Indies last winter. The market there wants a small 25 pound cheese of the "Daisy" type, about 12 inches in diameter, and also the cheese should be fairly "new," not more than one month old when shipped.

Some Canadian exporters to meet the demand have been cutting or splitting the regular size 80-85 lb cheese into three or four sections, covering the cut surface with paraffin or tinning a cap cloth on. As a result when exposed to temperatures of 80 deg. F. or more, as they are constantly in the West Indian climate, these "split" cheeses are far from satisfactory. They become a soft, loose mass, quite unattractive and hard to handle.

The "Daisy" type made fairly firm and covered with a good rind is much better suited to the market and its sale can be substantially increased if proper care is exercised in preparing it for a particular market. Quality counts in cheese as it does in other farm and dairy products.

MEASLES

Measles is perhaps the most easily transmitted of all the communicable diseases. As a result, it is a disease of such common occurrence, that many people regard it as inevitable, and so do little or nothing to prevent its spread. Indeed, many parents think that it is inescapable and rather welcome it so that it may be over and done with.

Everyone is susceptible to measles. The most important thing to know about measles is that the younger the child, the more serious is the attack likely to be. We say "serious" because in spite of the commonly accepted idea that measles, at the worst, is only annoying, it is a fact that measles is serious because of the injuries and deaths it causes. Deaths from measles? Yes, indeed. This disease which is regarded so lightly comes second as a cause of death among the common communicable disease occurring in young children. The number of deaths varies from year to year as epidemics of the disease occur, but few years pass which do not see several hundreds of young children fall victims to measles, and the younger the children afflicted, the higher the percentage of those who succumb.

Measles is spread in the droplets from the nose and throat of a case, and unfortunately, the case succeeds in spreading the disease in this way for some days before the appearance of the rash. Because measles is spread during this period, it makes it most difficult to control, as, in many cases, the disease is not suspected, or the child is thought to have only a cold in the head, or, as is the common opinion, even though it is measles, there is nothing to worry about, and so the child is allowed to mix with other children and no care is taken to control the spread of the disease.

One other point to be mentioned is that simple measles does not cause many deaths. Measles however, gives rise to many complications, particularly bronchopneumonia, and it is the complications of measles which are so often fatal.

We have presented these facts because we want parents to realize that measles is a serious disease.

Children should be safeguarded from infection. We have said that the younger the child, the more serious the effects of the disease, hence the more need for precautions. The child who has been exposed to measles should be carefully watched and put to bed on the first appearance of watery eyes. It would be better still to put the child to bed eight days after his exposure to infection, because the child who develops his attack of measles when he is likely to escape complications.

During an attack, and while the patient is convalescing from measles, he should receive the careful attention he requires in any serious condition one of which is measles.

Questions concerning Health, addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 184 College Street, Toronto, will be answered personally by letter.

Town Planning in Alberta

(By Horace L. Seymour, Provincial Director of Town Planning)

Being a series of short articles explanatory of the provisions of the Alberta Town Planning Act and Regulations thereunder.

The Alberta Town Planning Act has been in operation for over a year and inquiries are received as to the principles of Town Planning, but particularly as to the operations of the Act or Regulations thereunder.

It is also evident that many are not aware of some of the provisions of the Town Planning Act, or if aware, do not appreciate their value or significance.

Something has been accomplished through public meetings and correspondence but there seems to be a field in the further dissemination of town planning knowledge that can best be covered by the newspaper and these short articles to appear from time to time are prepared for that purpose.

The meaning of "Town Planning" most briefly defined as "community foresight" can best be described as the orderly treatment or arrangement of land and buildings both in town and country so that economy, convenience, health, and well being may be secured—out of which may also arise community attractiveness, individual happiness. The carrying out of such a program of development may take some years but brings a rich reward to the individual and to the community.

What "Town Planning" is meaning to Alberta is probably best explained by brief descriptions of some of the provisions of the Town Planning Act and Regulations and this is the object of succeeding short articles.

CANADA'S NATIONAL PRODUCTION AND INCOME

Canada's population approximates ten million. What is the income of all these people? Including agriculture, forestry, fishing, trapping, mining and electric power (the "primary production" industries) according to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics at Ottawa, amounting to $2,234,457,974. "Secondary Production," including construction, custom and repair and manufactures increase this amount to the sum of $3,896,280,555. A reference to the table of occupation and employment, however, discloses the further fact that only two-thirds of the population are "employed" in the activities mentioned and it is therefore reasonable to estimate that amount should be increased, by one-half, bringing the grand total to the prodigious sum of $5,844,420,532.

It is interesting to note too that agriculture stands at the head of the list by supplying 33.1% of this vast income. Manufactures come second with 23.1%. It is pretty generally agreed that every other industry reflects the conditions of agriculture almost immediately and this thought seems to provide quite sufficient justification for universal support of the World's Grain Exhibition and Conference to be held in Regina in 1932, an event which will undoubtedly result in the improvement of agriculture, the basic industry of many lands.

IT IS DIFFERENT

(By Walt Mason)

When I was young my Uncle Chee talked often to admiring bands; for he had been across the sea, had traveled in far distant lands. On winter nights we stayed at home to hear him tell absorbing yarns of sights he had beheld in Rome, of Scotland's mountains, glens and tarns. And when our pastor wished to see a big assemblage in the kirk, he'd call upon our Uncle Chee for stories of the Greek or Turk. At school I've heard the teacher say, "Oh children, I've arranged a treat, for Uncle Chee will come today, and tell you tales that can't be beat." In all the widespread out-of-doors, my uncle was the only scout who'd ever been to foreign shores. There people thought it was a feat to travel fifty miles away, and having done it they would boast of their adventures day by day. And so my uncle always seemed the Marco Polo of his time, he'd seen the things of which we dreamed in visions wondrous and sublime. When condescending to release some stories whiskey and hoar, all other people held their

Mrs. F. G. Barwick, McGee, Sask., writes:—"After my last baby was born my blood became very bad and my face broke out in nasty pimples, and I dreaded going out anywhere. One day I saw Burdock Blood Bitters advertised, so went to the drug store and purchased a bottle, and in a short time the pimples had all disappeared, and my face is fine now. I am the mother of four children and I am going to get a bottle for them as their blood is none too good, and I feel sure it will do them as much good as it did me. ## Canadian Pacific Steamships Aid R-100

On her historic voyage across the Atlantic to Montreal, the mighty British dirigible, R-100, was in continual wireless touch with ships of the Canadian Pacific trans-Atlantic fleet. The great air liner was hardly out above the ocean when she was in communication with S.S. "Montclare," then approaching the British Isles and some distance farther she overtook the Montclair, S.S. "Empress of France" was her next call as that ship was nearing Newfoundland, while down the St. Lawrence she spoke with the "Duchess of York," the "Empress of Scotland" and the "Duchess of Bedford." Eighteen other C.P.R. vessels were lying during her flight at British or Canadian ports. Thus the great Canadian transportation company was enabled to give a waiting world the latest particulars of her flight, since all these vessels are in wireless communication with the shore and their messages were broadcast through the press and featured in all R-100 news items.

175th ACADIAN ANNIVERSARY

English-speaking people from the Maritime Provinces and the New England States will join with French-speaking inhabitants of Quebec and of Louisiana in celebrating the 175th anniversary of the dispersion of the Acadians to be held at Grand Pre, Nova Scotia August 20 next. Invitations have been sent to the governments of Great Britain, France, the United States and Canada and also to the governors of Louisiana and Massachusetts to attend, while it is expected that the Lieutenant-Governor and Prime Minister of Nova Scotia will be present and will address the gathering.

that some bulbs are held in storage by commercial growers and potted for late bloom, but the amateur will be well advised to plant immediately and to depend on securing a succession of bloom by choosing varieties of different seasons. Specially prepared hyacinths and early varieties of tulips and daffodils for Christmas flowering may be had in September, but the main supplies are not on the market until October.

A good potting soil consists of equal parts of loam, well decayed cow manure, leaf mould, and sand.

The size and style of pot used will depend to some extent on the personal preference of the grower, but a six-inch pot will hold six tulips, a five-inch pot takes six crocus bulbs, a four or five-inch pot is suitable for a single hyacinth bulb and a seven or eight-inch pot will be required for two or six narcissus bulbs.

In potting, leave the top of the bulbs level with the surface of the soil and press it firmly about them but do not have it too compact beneath them since this is likely to cause the bulbs to heave up out of the soil when root growth begins. Some pieces of broken crockery or small stones should be placed in the bottom of the pot to ensure good drainage.

After planting, water the pots and set them in a cellar or darkened room where the temperature is from 40 to 50 degrees Fahrenheit. If the pots are plunged in sand they will require less careful watering and covering to a depth of two inches above the bulbs will help to prevent heaving.

Potted bulbs are sometimes placed in a covered trench out of doors and brought in as required, but in prairie Canada it is more convenient and safer to have them in a cellar after severe weather sets in.

After the bulbs are well rooted and there is evidence of top growth, they may be brought to the living room to bloom. To economize in window space a cellar window or any north window where the light is reasonably good may be used until the plants closely approach the blooming period. If kept too long in a dim light the plants become tall and weak-stemmed. If placed in too hot a place the buds will wither; therefore windows too close to a stove should be avoided.

After the plants are in flower, if they are kept in a cool part of the room and not exposed to bright sunshine the blossoms will usually last for twelve to fourteen days.

If early single tulips are given good growing conditions until the plants ripen off, the bulbs may be stored in a dry place and bedded out the following October. While these bulbs may not give bloom equal to that from imported bulbs the following spring, they will continue to bloom for many seasons under prairie conditions.

Most of the other bulbs forced should be discarded after the bloom has faded since our climate is too severe for them to live through the winter.

A Momentous Time!

The fate of the Wheat Pool now rests entirely with the Pool members.

The Pool will triumph over all obstacles if the membership remains steadfast and unwaveringly idle rumor.

The struggle is now at the hardest part, and the loyalty of every Pool member is of urgent importance. The result of the issue lies with the membership.

The safest place for your wheat is in the Wheat Pool, and it should be delivered to Pool Elevators.

AN EASTERN OPINION OF WESTERN FARMERS
(Mail and Empire, Toronto)

"To suggest that the farmer of the west is going into wheat bootlegging by wholesale and thus break up the Pool he created, is to suggest that the western farmer is a weakling and a cheat. The western farmer is not going to violate the sanctity of his contract, break his pledged word, destroy his bond—just because somebody with an axe to grind and not sufficient understanding to put an edge on it paints of his 1930 crop future a picture more dark and troubled than the facts warrant."

Deliver Pool Wheat to Pool Elevators!

NEWSPAPER LAWS

Excerpts from Newspaper Law, printed for the benefit of any reader who may have mistaken ideas regarding same:

1. A postmaster is required to give notice by letter (returning the paper does not answer the law) if the subscriber does not take the paper out of the post office and state the reason for its not being taken. Any neglect to do so makes the postmaster responsible to the publisher for payment.

2. If any person orders his paper discontinued he must pay all arrears or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made and collect the whole amount whether the paper is taken from the office or not. There can be no legal discontinuance until payment is made.

3. Any person who takes a paper from the post office, whether directed to his name or another, or whether he subscribes or not, is responsible for payment.

4. If a subscriber orders his paper stopped at a certain time and the publisher continues to send it, the subscriber is bound to pay for it if he takes it out of the post office. This follows the principle that a man must pay for what he uses.

THE WEED MENACE

In writing this article, it is my desire to call the attention of the farmers to the serious state the farms are getting in with regard to the weeds.

In my annual report to the Municipality and the Government last year, I reported progress and a more satisfactory condition and that the farmers were taking a keener interest in weed control and a better co-operation with the Weed Inspector. This last three weeks I find the farmers having to work harder than ever owing to reinfestation, and cannot help but remark that the weed menace is most serious.

I have discovered four weeds fresh to this district, namely, Tumbling Mustard, Red Root Pig Weed, a Solanum or wild tomato, escaping from hog lots into the grain field, and Wild Radish, found in oats imported from Saskatchewan. I find besides these I have noticed a greater amount of Smart Weed, or Polygonum, and Lambs Quarter in the summer fallow, due to the recent rains, and a few localities Corn Spurrey and Toad Flax.

In the spring, some farmers were rather slow starting cultivating fallow, allowing the annual and biennial weeds to go to seed before starting operations. I called their attention to this and in all cases they started plowing immediately.

The high winds, combined with the dry, loose state of the soil in the spring, appeared to make a good seed bed for weeds. In every case the farmers told me the weeds blew off their neighbor's land! I have found stink weed two and a half miles from the nearest infested land. I am still trying to persuade farmers to protect their neighbors by moving and burning and plowing down land adjoining clean land, to form traps to prevent Stink Weed spreading any further.

Whilst not trying to be an alarmist or unduly advertising this district as being bad with Sow Thistle, I would like to ask the majority of the farmers if they realize the serious menace they are subject to, and if so, tell me it is time they took some action themselves to stop the Sow Thistle getting bad here and to control it while it is controllable.

I have tried to do my duty to the farmers by writing the Councilors about a serious case of infestation. I then wrote the Government and have yet had no reply. I hope they wrote or phoned direct to the farmer concerned, but at the moment am not certain if they did.

The time has come for the farmers to ask the Government, through their Councilors, U.F.A. Locals, or their representative to the Legislature to take the matter up, (I can assure you it is more important than gravelled roads to farmers), asking it to take action to clean up the island and lake shores in the Province, which are continually re-infesting the farm lands. It may look like a big job to the Government, it is not so big as it looks. Where thistles will grow, clovers will grow, sweet clover and grasses will provide good grazing for cattle and sheep, and they will take care of Sow Thistle. I can prove it from my experience the last three years. In stony land the stubble burner, and chemicals sprayed in inaccessible places for cattle, will completely eradicate Sow Thistle and Canada Thistle.

This lies in the farmers' hands to take action themselves and will save a lot of trouble in the future in taking care of cleaner farms.

CHARLES KERRY.

(Experimental Farms Note)

Vegetables are regarded as a necessity. Everybody likes them. They are demanded all year. Fresh vegetables are in greatest demand. Any convenient method which will provide quality vegetables earlier than the usual way will be universally welcome. This can be accomplished by sowing certain vegetable seeds in the fall.

This procedure can be used in the village, city or farm garden. Most of our amateur or home vegetable gardens have space at a premium. Less space is required for fall sown vegetables. Consequently the idea should meet with popular approval from that standpoint.

Of course all vegetable seeds cannot be sown in the fall and it is usually planned to seed only a small portion this way. It has been found that a general assortment of staple vegetables can be grown in this way. These include beets, cabbages, carrots, lettuce, onions, parsnips, spinach, radishes and turnips. Northern or home grown seed must be used in every case.

Prairie winters and springs vary so widely that certain vegetables will respond each spring. Spinach usually takes a commanding lead for providing fresh greens. Lettuce is usually well ahead of spring sowings. In some years cabbage progresses at an alarming rate.

Fall sowing requires some explanation. Seeding should be done late enough so that no growth takes place until the next spring. Experience shows that just when freeze-up starts is the best time. The ideal method is to break the light frozen crust on the soil surface at this time and seed as usual. One-third less distance between the rows than spring seeding can be used. Another cultural practice used in this connection is to gently stir the soil surface as soon as the land is workable in the spring. The aeration and warmth provided in this way speeds up the growth.

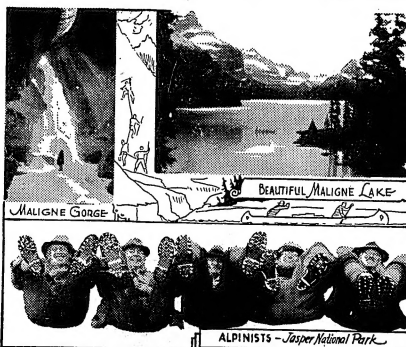

Moisture deficiency is our greatest single factor affecting vegetable production on the prairies. Fall sown vegetables can make use of soil moisture by melted snow. Such an advantage provides more rapid growth with accompanying high quality. Beginning with the fall of 1922, staple vegetable seeds have been sown at the Dominion Experimental Station, Scott, just before freeze-up and the same vegetables were sown the following spring for comparison. Records have been kept concerning maturation of seed, dates ready for use, yield and quality. For the most part the germination has not been as uniform in the case of fall seeding, which has meant a slightly lighter yield. Fall sown vegetables are invariably earlier and the quality is equal to or better than spring seedings. Vegetables found satisfactory for fall sowing have already been mentioned. Covering the seven year period, fall sown vegetables could not be considered successful on two occasions.

An early opening of spring followed by severe freezing weather is usually disastrous for fall sown vegetables, but since most seasons are favourable, it is an easy method of having home grown vegetables of good quality at an earlier date than is possible by the usual spring out-door seeding.

In some parts of the prairie provinces fall seeding has not been found satisfactory. One should try it on a small scale at first to determine if results are good where you live.

CENTER FOR ALPINE CLIMBING

Into a country where there are many important peaks still unexplored and even unnamed, will come Alpinists from all over the world for the 1930 annual camp of the Alpine Club of Canada, July 28th to August 16th, in Jasper National Park. Alpine members of the medical profession of England, will be among those at this year's camp.

In this vast mountain kingdom, climbers will try their skill in the Maligne Lake region, where such peaks as Mt. Samson, Mt. Charlton, Mt. Unwin, Mt. Warren, Mt. Mary Vaux, Mt. Maligne, and Mt. Brazeau—ranging from ten to eleven thousand feet in height, offer most interesting climbing problems.

It is perhaps the splendid ruggedness, the massing of peaks that distinguishes this region from all others. In the Rockies the folly of attempting, where beauty is concerned, is always obvious. There are a score of lakes, each different, which, once seen, hold their place in the heart forever. Yet this stands out among them all. Where many of the others are chamber music, Maligne is the great orchestra. The composition forms one picture but into it has gone enough beauty to make a dozen regions famous.

The Maligne Valley is one of the most interesting in Jasper National Park, not only on account of its remarkable canyon, but because of its two beautiful lakes—Medicine and Maligne.

Ask Yourself—
Is It?

When you ask for a certain line of goods, a line which you have seen advertised in newspapers—and you are told "Here is something just as good and cheaper," it is time to do some thinking. If there is more profit in selling goods not advertised and you are buying at a saving, there must be something wrong somewhere—and usually that is loss of quality—something left out that is THERE in the advertised commodity you originally asked for.

It is well to remember that a manufacturer invests his good dollars in advertising space because he knows his product is right. The fact that he advertises in newspapers so that "he who runs may read" is evidence that he knows his claims are right, and that he is ready to stand behind his merchandise and the stores that sell it.

The "MARRIAGE" OF WHITE HORSE WHISKY

White Horse is Scotland's senior Whisky. Used throughout the world wherever connoisseurs foregather.

"MARRYING" is a term used by experts to describe the blending process through which "White Horse" gains its smoothness and mellowness.

Scotch Whisky is the blending of malts and grain whisky. For "White Horse" only the choicest makes of Scotch Whisky are selected. These are matured for a long period in sherry wood—expertly blended—or "married"—then aged, rebled and aged again.

Every drop of "White Horse" must go through this long, deliberate process—and the result generously repays the effort.

Premier Bracken Makes a Plea for Western Farmers

A plea for the agriculturists of Western Canada, urging that no undue pressure be exerted by creditors and that the orderly marketing of the 1930 crop be maintained without dumping that would depress values, was made in Winnipeg last week by Hon. John Bracken, premier of Manitoba.

"The setting of initial prices by the Canadian Wheat Pools at 60 cents a bushel for wheat and 40 cents for barley and 30 cents for oats, corresponding to low prices for coarse grains have carried on without asking or receiving help from either their provincial or Federal governments, except when last winter, following a drastic drop in wheat prices, the Provincial Governments of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, at the request of the pools and to avoid the necessity of dumping large quantities of grain on an already depressed market, guaranteed the advances made by the Canadian banks on the 1929-30 pool crop, in case the final price for the pool handlings should fall below the initial payments, advanced by the banks.

"This guarantee was intended to cover the entire crop handlings by the pool for that year. This understanding, in so far as the undelivered crop at the end of July was concerned, was questioned by the banks, but at recent conferences between the premiers of the three prairie provinces and pool officials with the Canadian banks, this matter was definitely settled and arrangements made satisfactory to the provinces, the banks, and the pools for the financing of the undelivered portion of the 1929 crop.

"It was the desire of the Pool, as well as of the Provincial governments

Here and There

592 Asbestos production in Canada during 1929 set up a new high record, according to a report from the figures of the Bureau of Statistics. Shipments in 1929 amounted to 366,055 tons, valued at $13,725,881, an increase of 12.1% in quantity and 17.2% in value as compared with the previous year. The average value received by the operators was $43.04 per ton, compared with $41.16 the previous year.

Nipigon trout, known all over the continent as the gamest of game fish, are coming into the spotlight again according to reports from the famous Ontario resort where the annual contest for the largest speckled trout is now in full swing and will continue until September 14. The best entry to date is a 54-lb. fish, measuring 22 inches in length and 14 in girth taken with a single spinner with fly, on a 94-foot rod by Edmund Sauter, of Peterson, N. J., July 29.

East and West, Orient and Occident, will meet in the British Empire Piping competition, one of the most interesting of the features to be introduced at this year's Highland Gathering and Scottish Music Festival to be held at Banff at the end of August. Pipe-Major John Clark and E. L. Collins of the Royal Scots Regiment of Scotland, in-chief, will come from the British Isles, while Pipe-Major W. C. MacEla of the Scottish Company of volunteers is on his way to Banff from Hong-Kong.

Prospects for increased earnings during the fall months are good and directors of the Canadian Pacific Railway have no intention of reducing the dividend, said E. W. Beatty, chairman and president of the company, recently in reply to rumors that the dividend might be cut.

Nowadays the world moves on rubber and this does not apply to automobiles alone. According to a recent return of the Canadian government the people of Nigeria in June bought 300 pairs of shoes with rubber soles from Canada. Barbados took 3,020 pairs and Trinidad 6,655 pairs. In June the export of Canadian automobile tires exceeded $1,000,000 in value.

Canadian farmers are now producing all the fine tobacco required by Canadian manufacturers, according to a statement just issued by the Dominion Department of Agriculture which also claims that the tobacco is of better quality than that usually imported. Canadian tobacco has also become a factor in the British tobacco market.

An increase of 58% in motor tourist traffic from the United States to New Brunswick is shown in statistics for the 1929 season up to July 31 as compared with the same period last year, according to figures issued by the provincial government Bureau of Information and Tourist Travel from returns from Canadian Customs collectors at the 24 ports of entry along the International Boundary.

It is not generally known that the Prairie Provinces—Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta—contain important commercial fisheries. In 1929 the commercial value of fish caught in these provinces exceeded $4,000,000.

Herman Trelle, of Wembley, Alberta, former wheat and oats king, won first prizes at the Regina Exhibition for his Marquis and Reward wheats. William Darnborough, of Laura, Sask., was second in the Marquis class, and E. Thomson, of Pathow, Sask., came just behind Trelle in the Reward class.

that the 1930 crop should finance itself without any guarantee from the Provincial governments, and no request by the Pool to the Provincial governments has been made or even suggested.

"In the discussion that took place the contentions of the banks was that the first payment should be well within the limits of safety, that of the pools was that as large a payment as possible was advisable, and the desire of the three governments was that as large an amount of money as possible should be advanced in the first payment rather than later, in order not only to help the farmers meet their indebtedness but to give a greater impetus to business, and thus favorably affect the unemployment situation. An increase of 10 cents per bushel on the initial price for the wheat the Pool will handle would mean an increase of $15,000,000 in cash put into circulation this fall in the three prairie provinces.

"With regard to grain prices in general, I have no hesitation in stating that they are, for a considerable majority of our farmers, below the cost of production. Under present conditions it will be quite impossible for many farmers in Manitoba to meet their financial obligations at the time of marketing their crop. Yet creditors are naturally hoping for and expecting at least a partial payment of the indebtedness due them, and some are already pressing for payments that cannot be made at least in full. "We are satisfied, however, that even at the low initial prices that have been decided upon and the present low market prices which the farmers outside the pool will receive, our farmers can pull through the present trying times, if their creditors refrain from a too aggressive collection campaign until the present depressed market conditions have improved.

"Under these circumstances, I think the public which is indirectly but not directly concerned, as well as the credit institutions, should realize that the situation should be sold as fast as the market will absorb it, any undue pressure at this time will have a depressing effect on prices and cannot fail to have undesirable consequences on an already hard pressed agricultural industry and indirectly on all business activity including the unemployment situation.

"The Government of Manitoba believes that in the present emergency, industrial and financial interests should refrain from unduly pressing collections from farmer debtors.

And while we fully realize that business institutions can no more function without collecting money due them than can governments or farmers or any other class of the people, yet in the difficulties now facing our chief primary industry it is in the interests of all Canada that our farmers should not be embarrassed by too energetic attempts by competing creditors to collect larger payments than farmers are able to make. There is no class in the community less anxious to avoid paying its debts than the farmers, and there can be no question but that they will pay their debts to the full limit of their ability. We believe that the consideration shown on previous occasions of depression in agriculture by the creditor interests, should not be withheld at this time of which the government is one, when it is so necessary to tide our farmers over a situation which might otherwise be disastrous.

CALGARY DECIDES TO CLOSE SCHOOLS FOR TWO WEEKS

Following the three Calgary cases reported last Wednesday, the provincial department of health had received no further word of outbreaks of infantile paralysis. This leaves the total number of cases for the province since the first of July at 48.

The situation in Calgary remains serious, however, and on Thursday evening the Calgary council, sitting as the civic health board, ordered that all schools remained closed for another two weeks in the city. Dr.

Duncan Gow, Calgary medical health officer, stated that it would not be safe for the schools to be opened until at least two weeks after the last outbreak had been reported.

So far there has not been a single case of infantile paralysis in Edmonton and no alarm is felt about opening the schools—Edmonton Journal.

Newspaper Advertising and the Town Merchant

Herman Roe, of The Northfield (Minn.) News, has been addressing the National Merchants' Association. At this St. Paul gathering, Mr. Roe said, among other things that one of the serious conditions affecting the fate of the small town and the individual merchant is the existence of TOO MANY WEAK AND DORMANT DEPARTMENTS in the "community" department store.

Allowing a few merchants to do all the boosting and advertising for a town while others sit back and attempt to cash in on this publicity is one example of "sponging." The work of a few brings trade into town and the shoppers are bound to spend some money with those who are simply riding along. But it is far from being public-spirited. A town will never prosper until every MERCHANT is doing his part to attract people to the town to trade and EVERY BUSINESS is working to extend the trade as far out as possible.

"One of the most successful small town merchants in America, doing half a million dollar general store business in a North Dakota town of 5,000 population, in speaking of the condition has gone so far as to predict the COMPLETE ELIMINATION OF THE INDEPENDENT RETAILER from the field of business within ten years unless something is done about it—and that something, he says, is Newspaper Advertising. Here is his indictment, also his remedy:

"HUNDREDS OF RETAILERS SIT IN THEIR STORES AND CALMLY WAIT FOR CUSTOMERS TO COME IN. THEY WILL SOON FIND THAT THERE WON'T BE EVEN ONE CUSTOMER UNLESS THEY DO SOMETHING ABOUT IT. DOZENS IN EVERY TOWN PRACTICE THAT METHOD OF OPERATING A BUSINESS. IT SIMPLY CAN'T BE DONE. YOU MUST ADVERTISE, INVITE THE CUSTOMERS TO COME IN AND BUY FROM YOU, AND THEN YOU MUST GIVE THEM SERVICE THAT WILL INDUCE THEM TO RETURN."

"The More We Are Together---

The Merrier We'll Be

Thus goes the jolly song of the Good Fellowship Brotherhood.

Plain simple folksy words but much truth is embodied in them.

Unless we hang together much 'community prosperity is lost to Wetaskiwin. Consider the printer; he is doing his part in helping along his home town by buying as much as possible there; yet much of the work he can handle goes outside.

No benefit is derived from giving work to outside firms who come around selling you printing. You pay as much for the work; you have to wait longer for it; you have no chance to examine it until the finished work comes along with the bill; and then there is the expressage to pay over and above the straight price.

Compare this with the service of the local printer. Show him what you want and he'll give you a definite price. You know exactly what the work will cost before it is touched. Then you can make minor changes, etc., before the final printing. Delivery is made promptly too—and nothing is charged for the service.

All in all you stand to gain by letting the local man handle your work. And do not forget that his active support is behind you and your business.

Two resolutions were passed by the Saskatchewan farmer body, one asking Premier J. T. M. Anderson to call a special session of the Legislature to deal with the grain marketing situation and the other urging J. G. Gardiner, leader of the Liberal opposition, to co-operate with the Government in arranging for the special session.

Representatives of public bodies in Estevan have already held a meeting to discuss "a very serious situation in the grain market" and to suggest special action by the Provincial Government.

THE SWEDEN OF TODAY
For more than 6000 years the same race has inhabited the country and there has been very slight intermingling with other peoples. In the extreme north, however, there are about 30,000 Finns and some 7,000 Lapps, the latter being a queer people of Mongolian stock. The population of the kingdom is about 6 millions, but some 340,000 Swedes live in Finland, and millions have found a new home in America.

Though mainly agricultural in the past, Sweden is now paying equal if not greater attention to the development of her industries. Possessing great wealth in her iron-ore and extensive forests, and being provided with an almost unlimited supply of water-power, Sweden has during the last 50 years done much to realize her economic assets. Conquest has followed conquest, and, as regards the development of her resources, Sweden is at present, without doubt, one of the leading countries in Europe.

A man is as old as he feels, but never so important.
